Dubuque Water Department Manager Named to Lead State Water Association

DUBUQUE, Iowa – City of Dubuque Water Department Manager Bob Green has been named to lead the Iowa section of the American Water Works Association (IA-AWWA).

As chair, Green will be responsible for leading the association's Board of Directors and helping meet the association's mission of providing educational forums and programs for those employed in the drinking water profession and with responding to the environmental, regulatory, and funding challenges facing Iowa's drinking water.

Green brings over 30 years of experience in the water industry to the helm of the organization. "I am proud to lead the one statewide organization in Iowa whose sole purpose for existing is to educate water professionals to meet the challenges each of us face each and every day in bringing safe, clean drinking water to Iowa's cities and towns," said Green. "It is a responsibility each of us in the water industry takes very seriously knowing the safety, health, and welfare of the citizens in our respective communities depend on us every time they turn that faucet," said Green, who has been with the City of Dubuque Water Department for the past 18 years.

IA-AWWA is a statewide association comprised of nearly 800 drinking water professionals and water quality advocates dedicated to the promotion of quality drinking water for the citizens of Iowa.
