NEWS RELEASE

January 18, 2008 – For Immediate Release

SNOW ROUTE ODD/EVEN PARKING VOLUNTARY TODAY AND TOMORROW

Due to the extremely low temperatures and dangerous wind chills forecasted for today and this weekend, the City of Dubuque has declared that compliance with the snow route odd/even parking policy in effect today (Friday, Jan. 18) and tomorrow (Saturday, Jan. 19) is voluntary.

“Given the wind chill advisory that has been issued for today and the weekend, we are making an exception to the ordinance,” said Public Works Director Don Vogt. “We would appreciate it if those who are able to move their vehicles would, but those who are not comfortable doing so will not be fined.”

This is a one-time exception to this City ordinance.
